Connecticut Main Street Center Photo Display at Legislative Office Building

(Hartford, CT) – A photography exhibit of Connecticut Main Street communities is on display at the Legislative Office Building (LOB) in Hartford. Photos of downtown New London, Niantic, Winsted and the Upper Albany neighborhood commercial district in Hartford are exhibited in the Café Exit hallway on the ground floor of the LOB. The exhibit is scheduled from April 17th - 28th.

“This is just one way in which we are working to increase the visibility of our Main Street Communities. Through staff visits and our annual awards program we have collected some wonderful photos of downtowns throughout the state. We are glad to have the opportunity to share these with our elected officials and visitors to the state capitol and legislative office building,” said Connecticut Main Street Center executive director John Simone.

Part of a national network that has been in place for over 25 years, Connecticut Main Street Center brings together public officials, business owners, financial resources, community activists, and the economic development and historic preservation communities under one umbrella organization. CMSC helps communities analyze core issues and set attainable goals. The organization provides education and training, design and technical assistance, and advocacy.

Connecticut Main Street Center, a nonprofit corporation funded by the State of Connecticut Department of Economic & Community Development and The Connecticut Light and Power Company/Yankee Gas, is committed to bringing Connecticut’s commercial districts back to life socially and economically.
